

er teams were hindered by dogs being rather surprised to see the judge now sporting a frilly and poofy tutu and we thank them also for taking it all in stride and with good attitudes for such a worthy cause.

At the time of the specialty, Carlin had just finished up her radiation therapy in Philadelphia and had returned home to Kentucky. At this time, Carlin's latest MRI is still clear and shows no sign of tumor regrowth. She will continue maintenance chemotherapy and quarterly MRIs for the next year.

Many, many thanks to all who donated for Carlin. Thanks to the stalwart dogs, Zephyr, Frost, Temper and Dare, who were shoved into outfits for the competition and still managed to pull out qualifying runs and thanks to my teammates Ingrid, Mackenzie and Charlotte who were so happy and willing to play along, to the judge and ring steward and to all the other competitors whose dogs are now well socialized to judges in tutus. You all did a good thing and made a difference. Cattle dog people are awesome. Thank you.
